

FOCUS ON UPLAND BIRD HUNTING

1. Summarize the three strategies to help protect upland bird populations that are described in Chapter 5.
2. What are the advantages of hunting upland birds with a group instead of by yourself? Are there any disadvantages?
3. Which kind of upland bird can be found in the forest?
  - A. ring-necked pheasant
  - B. gray partridge
  - C. ruffed grouse
4. What will happen if a hunter leads too far ahead of a bird when shooting?
  - A. The hunter will shoot too late, and the bird will already be gone.
  - B. The hunter will miss the bird and shoot the air in front of it.
  - C. The hunter will be knocked off balance.

Answer Key:

1. Answers will vary
2. Answers will vary
3. C
4. B